iPad EXPECTATIONS

The iPad is a learning tool. It is not a toy. It will always be used for learning, unless you are told otherwise by a teacher.

Using the iPad is a privilege. If you are not using the iPad as you were instructed to use it, your privilege to use it will be removed for as long as the teacher sees fit.

You will carry the iPad, closed at all times, at a walking pace.

You will not use anybody else's iPad without the "owner's" or teacher's permission.

You will not take any inappropriate photos or videos.

You will not airdrop without permission.

You will not play any internet games without the teacher's permission.

You will not download any App without the teacher's permission.

You will not go on any inappropriate YouTube or website.

You may email others using appropriate language.

You will not email videos or photos without teacher permission.

You will not put a PIN code on the home access screen.

Be aware that the teacher has the right to look at your iPad without your permission, whenever they wish.

If you see anyone break these rules, you have an obligation to tell the teacher. Those who continue to use the iPad incorrectly are at risk of losing it. Protect yourself and your classmates who make the right choices. Those who don't use the iPad correctly do not deserve to have one.
